For Immediate Release – October 4, 2010

SALEM POLICE DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCES PROMOTION

Police Chief Jeff Dudley appointed Sergeant Tim Carroll to the rank of Lieutenant, effective Sept.1, 2010.

Carroll began his employment at the Salem Police department on September 15, 1982 working as a patrol officer. He was an officer and detective until 2003 when he moved to the forensics unit as a Crime Scene Investigator and manager of the property and evidence room. He was appointed to sergeant in charge of this unit in June of 2007.

“I am proud to be able to appoint Carroll to this position,” says Chief Dudley. “He is a dedicated employee and the organizational skills and attention to detail he possesses make him the ideal person for this important job.”

A ceremony was held at the Salem Police Department on September 10 and attended by Carroll’s wife, Candice, and his son, Timmy, as well as several members of the department, including retired Police Chief Jim Bryant.

Carroll will remain in the forensics unit with this appointment.
